Student Spotlight!

The program has helped me by teaching me different rhetorical practices. I learned that I can not only apply rhetoric to literary texts, but also movies, tv shows, video games, etc. In the future, I would like to write fiction books for children. This program has equipped me with the skills necessary for that by teaching me editing and design. It also made me think of how I would compose a book for younger children, compared to an adult audience.

-Bryce Johnson

"This program was exactly what I was looking at as a communications major graduate. I feel like it really helps broaden the scope of skills that I can offer when applying for jobs. The sense of community has been a huge support and enhances the entire experience."

-Tatiana Illis
